

The Dancer

Today Cassius you showed me his creative side. An ABBA CD was playing and you tried the dress up clothes so I asked if you liked to dance. You just grinned and whipped the dress off and replaced it with the white model. You then proceeded to show me your understanding of ballet. I loved the graceful placement of your hands. Then you were off again. This time you plopped down on the floor and showed me your break dancing skills.

Looking through your Profile book I see that you often move to music, participate in your concerts, enjoy Peter and the Wolf and painting to music. Your Mum says that she finds out about your time at Country Kids through your singing about your day.

Most of your music is while you are in Just4Kids so it was great that I got to share this skill with you. Thankyou. I look forward to more examples of your expressiveness through music.
